

Help reduce personal deliveries to our office

Receiving personal deliveries at work can increase costs for our organisation, add to congestion in London and negatively impact local air quality.

We are leading a campaign to reduce the number of personal deliveries to our office.

Get in touch with your personal deliveries champion

Did you know?

- UK parcel volumes in the festive period of 2017 were nearly a third higher than in the summer months of the same year
- Nearly a quarter of shoppers chose to click and collect during Black Friday 2017
- More than half of online purchases were delivered using a next-day delivery service across 2016/17
- Up to 40 per cent of deliveries to businesses are personal items

